history

's a dark place & specters emerge at each twist we can’t tell whether we have seen before elders proclaim we must always insist on their way, a timorous burlesque the young must absolutely spit